GLOBE 2012

12th Biennial Trade Fair & Conference on Business & the Environment

GLOBE 2012 will be the 12th event in one of the world's largest and longest-running series dedicated to the business of the environment. Every two years, the world gathers in Vancouver for three days of thought-leading sessions presented by world-renowned sustainability experts, for the opportunity to see leading-edge environmental innovations, and to participate in unparalleled global networking opportunities.

GLOBE 2012 showcases environmental technologies and services that drive renewable energy solutions, water and waste management, and sustainable planning and building.

An estimated 10,000 environment industry leaders, procurement managers, engineers and corporate executives will attend the GLOBE Trade Fair. All tallied, it is the premier showcase for global environmental innovation with the most advanced environmental and energy products, services and systems around, generating significant daily international media coverage.

The City of Vancouver is very active in planning and implementing solutions to protect the environment. All heads point in the same direction: make sure that Vancouver will be the greenest city on earth by 2020 and make the surroundings for the inhabitants a clean, green and nice place to live.

The most important investments and the ones which have the most significant opportunities for Switzerland are in the areas of:

- Waste management
- Green buildings
- Renewable energy and GHG-emissions
- Clean water and air
- Clean transportation

Exhibiting at GLOBE will provide a special opportunity to communicate with stakeholders, and demonstrate successes in strategic environmental management, operational innovation and community projects:

- Access prospects from over 70 economies
- Form strategic alliances & attract investment capital
- Profile your environmental solutions and initiatives globally

- Visitors: 9000
- Exhibitors: 425 (194 foreign)
